THE OWL
1974 as you sit down to read this book think back upon the years as they've come filled with smiles yet often teary-eyed

but always unique
from our first friendships bonded by paper valentines and sand piles to this time of gowns and tassels we have grown
as individuals
but yet as a whole
we have conquered many a fear and realized much love but still the unexplored lies ahead we have changed our life styles we have opened our eyes to the good and bad of our society yet we grope blindly for answers to questions yet to face for each star we hold in our hand another beams defiantly ahead we will never catch them all as we will never conquer all it seems that each year makes us younger to the challenges we must face each day demands our vibrance and curiosity it insists upon being met with the awe of youth to touch the soul of each new hour we must view the world through the eyes of a child here i am a speck against walls that will not cannot budge

a toddler slowly carefully mounting each stair falling rising
falling again
a nomad
in search of a route cleared of rocks and limbs in pursuit of a light shining of peace in search of my tomorrow

authority
so awesome, so demanding, so frightening yet they too are frightened of the task they hold of the questions we raise of the challenges we dare somewhere between our two fronts lies a pathway of understanding lives a will to learn and a hope to share the learned that one day meet
and merge

till there remains
but infinity to conquer

we meet as many but together
we blend
into one
we follow sometimes we may lead but always we try to change

the ground we've covered always we hope to leave it no worse for the wear of our passing then at times we pray that by chance it has even grown from the tears and pains we've fed to it

4

though small i still may find a chair on which to sit a mountain i may climb tables i can reach and blocks that build for me a home since tinier than most i search for those to look at eye-to-eye some i may be one with i seek a friend

as each day shines i grow strong and full
in the love of so many i taste the sweet of life from each friend i find i melt beside his warmth i feed upon his smiles each becomes a part of me that can never be completely removed by time
nor its allies
so
though there comes a time when we must part we will remain as one while i carry you
home with me secured in my pocket of memories

the song of the class of 1974 morning has broken like the first morning and here we are at life's doorstep praise for this day, welcome your future for we have come a long, long way ours is the power to change the world we have the future, it's up to us but this will take time, and it will take work never give up 'cause there's always hope so as this year ends remember all our good times and all your friends as they go their ways we'll be together, always in spirit God's peace be with you, always where 'ere you go

time was when winds blew fresh across fields of faces upturned to the sun
faces
born to reflect the light of today
and create a glow
for tomorrow
yet tomorrow remained a dream for two who passed from our field to another
there to shape and form another reality
here

a cloud in our eyes passed before the sun dispelled only when we saw that the sun was as bright and the day was as good as it had been before in the light those two had left behind for though we were apart the gift they had given us would last forever
the gift of light
of memories

of richard ernest

wind that continues to blow.

DEAR CLASS OF 1974:

As you go forth from Westminster High School at your particular time in history, you go forth in the middle of the seventh decade of this century. Other classes from former years have poured forth in high school and college graduations in years which were to be beset by wars, depressions, and times of affluence, as well as in times of great break-throughs in science, technology and health. I cannot help but wonder what will be the over-riding issues of your first years.

In Ecclesiastes, a favorite portion of scripture says:

"To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven:
A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together;
A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

I can be confident that as the Old Testament prophet so aptly put it, in each of our lives there will be a time for all facets of living.

Your education has prepared you to handle these facets or certainly you will be handled by them, for that is what education is all about. We on the staff here at the Westminster High School have equipped you to meet the challenges which you will face. So go forth with courage and confidence to meet every opportunity of your days secure in the knowledge that the standards which have been demanded of you so far through your high school career will stand you in good stead if you will adhere to these in your life ahead.

With warmest personal regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,

W. Norris Weis

Good Luck Seniors,
We'll miss you!!

A house can never be a home without a lot of junk And surely you would not dehome a sad and lonely skunk If you clean up, I fear that I will have no place to go And junk is not the same as garbage, as English teachers know.
Have mercy on me won't you please? Oh, won't you leave the mess, can you begrudge a smelly friend a bit of happiness? P.H.

Eby! Eby!
Don't fit, don't fit!

today
is but a vision hushed by shadows of yesterday
lit by worries of tomorrow
tints of colleges
tones of businesses
shades of domesticity
sit upon a vivid palette waiting to be blended into one that will make our tomorrow

so
be your future
exotic
or secure let not your wonder nor innocence
escape
into the blur
of tomorrow
